The New York Hotel Difficulty-Trial of Dr. Gaillardet for a Felonious Assault upor Hiram Cranston.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS. Before Hocorder Barnard.

October 19 .- At the opening of the Court this morning the case of Dr. Theodore Gaillardet, indicted for a felo nious assault upon Hiram Cranston, proprietor of the New York Hotel, on the 26th of May, was called, when

Mr. Ashmetad, counsel for the defendant, in an elo-quent speech, moved to quash the indictment on the ground that it was essential to the validity of an indictment that it should have been submitted to the Grand Jury by the prosecuting officer of the State. The junior counsel in the case presented an affidavit establishing the fact that when the indictment was found Peter B. Sweeney, the District

Mr. Whiting, who appeared on behalf of the prosecu-tion, and Mr. Biunt, the District Attorney, opposed the motion.

The Recorder said he would overrule the motion, and give the counsel the benefit of an exception.

The defendant, who appears to be a highly respectable gentleman, was called to plead, and pleading not guilty, the process of empanieting a jury was commenced, each juror undergoing a Berutinizing commation as to his knowledge of the case.

ATEMPT TO TAMPER WITH A JUROR.

After three jurers were sworn and accepted, Mr. John After three juress were sworn and accepted, Mr. John Surin, an awning maker in William street, was asked what he knew of the circumstances of the case. He said that he had read the account of the affair soon after it took place in the New Yonk Hahada. On being cross-examined by Mr. Whiting, he said that a gentieman named Bertram, who, he believed, kept a boarding house in the Fourth avenue, called upon him and stated that he understood he (Mr. Surin) was on the jury in the General Sessions. He informed me, said the juror, that this trial was coming on do-day; said that it was a hard matter for the defendant, and that it (meaning the assault) was done through passion and excitement. I told him that I thought it was not right for him to talk to me upon the subject.

Recorder—What did he tell you to do when you were on the jury?

sion and excitement. It too min that I thought it was not right for him to talk to me upon the subject.

Recorder—What did he tell you to do when you were on the jury?

Mr. Surin—He told me to act according to my conscience; the converation occupied three or four minutes; he only called on me once, and came alone; it was about half-past eight in the morning; Bertram is a Frenchman, and spoke to me in French, nut did not call me aside; he told me, I think, that the trial would take place to day, but did not tell me to be here this morning.

Mr. Surin was set asloe as being an incompetent juror. The District Autoney requested him to step into his private office, in order that his statement might be put in the form of an affidavit, the Court having intimated that Mr. Bertram had been guilty of a high offence.

A jury was obtained at a quarter to two o'clock, when the District Autorney proceeded to open the case on behalf of the prosecution, giving a brief account of the occurrence. It appeared that the defendant attended a patient who boarded at the hotel; whose disease turned out to be smallpox, but who was represented to the propristor by lr. Gailiardet as having fever. Decrming that the protessional conduct of the doctor was not exactly right, Mr. Cranston gave notice to him and his family to provide themselves with apartments elsewhere. This request was made on the day previous to the assault, which was made between five and six o'clock on the following evening, while Mr. Cranston was sitting at the dimer table.

The defendant struck Mr. Cranston twice on the head with a champagne bottle. It was for the jury to say, said Mr. Blunt, whether the educated and refined class of society had the power to resent what they deemed to be an injury to their feelings.

Param Cranston, aworn and examined by Mr. Whiting, deposed as follows:—I am keeper of the New York Hotel; Dr. Gaillardet was a boarder at my house in May; I think he came in February lask, but am not positive, and continued from that time that time, composed betel at that time, composed of ladies, gentlemen and children; three or four days before the assault upon me a resident of the New York Hotel, a gentleman, came to the office of the hotel and made a communication to me; in consequence of the information received from this gentleman who was said to be ili; I was told Dr. Gaillardet man I asked who was the attending physician of the gentleman who was said to be ili; I was told Dr. Gaillardet was the physician; I told my cierk to send for Dr. Gaillardet and say I wished to see him at the office; he came a few moments after; I asked him if he was treating a gentleman in a certain room, and, if so, what was his disease; he said he was treating him as his physician, and that this disease was a slight fever (I think that was the expression), and that the gentleman would be out in a day or two; I asked him if his patient had not the smallpox, I telling him that I was informed that he had the smallpox, I telling him that I was informed that he had the smallpox, I telling him that I was informed that he had the smallpox; he assured me it was not, but said it might be the measlen; I said if it was the smallpox at was his duty to tell me, in order that I might protect my household from the spread of the disease; he again assured to it was not the smallpox, and upon that assurance we parted; we spoke in English, and the conversation took place in the office; this conversation took place on Friday; on the Tuesday following I was sitting conversing with a gentleman when a servant came, saying that Madame Gaillardet wanted to see me; I went into the passage and saw the lady; she said she wished to see me alone, and then eadd she wished to communicate to me that the gentleman whom the doctor was treating had the smallpox. I expressed my sufprise, and the lady made some remark desiring me not to be alarmed at the fact of the existence of the disease, and I believe her remark was for me not to say anything about it; I wrote a note for Dr. Crane, my physician, to come and see me;

I said I must take measures to have him removed from the house; I left Dr. Gaillardet then, and conversed with Dr. Crane; I his conversation took place in the passage near the office; on consulting with Dr. Crane, I proceeded to the Alushouse and consulted with one of the Governors to have him removed to the smailpox hospital; I engaged a nurse and physician to be in readiness at eleven o clock on the following merning; between ten and eleven o'clock, the nurse being ready with his carriage, &c. Dr. Gaillardet came in and said (in French) that his patient should not be sent to the hospital; he said he had procured apartments for him and would procure lodgings; I asked the doctor if he had engaged a proper carriage for his removal, and not one used by ladies and gentiemen; he said he had not, and the carriage and nurse which I had engaged took him from the hote; immediately after their removing the sick gentleman from the house, I wrote a note to Dr. Gaillardet, saying that I deemed his professional conduct in his management of the patient to be such that I could not allow him to remain longer in the house, and I desired him to procure lodging elsewhere; he wrote a note saying that he would prepare to remove, and he would take care that the public should be apprised of the reasons of his doing so; after that I saw him in the passage leading to the dining room, but did not speak to him, nor he to me, yet I think he saw me; the next thing was blows on my head when I was sitting at the dinner table, which was about half past five; I think I saw the defendant look into the disor first and then pass up stairs before I was struck; I was sitting at the dinner table, which was about half past five; I think I saw the defendant look into the disor first and then pass up stairs before I was struck; I was sitting at the edner table facing the currance door which was sixty feet from the table facing the currance door which was sixty feet from the table facing the currance door which has burst in the bands of a servant; I bou

Return of General Castro to Valencia— Acts of the National Convention—Arrival of the Hon. E. A. Turpin, &c., &c.

OUR CARACAS CORRESPONDENCE. CARACAS, Sopt. 20, 1859.

The United States Legation—Mr. Turpin at His Post, and Resignation of Mr. Eumes-Progress of the Constitution of Convention-Hopes from General Paes, &c.

Our Minister is at his legation—I mean Mr. Turpin. He appears to be an intelligent man, and one who will do honor to himself and his country. His credentials have been forwarded to Valencia, where the government actually exists for the present, but it will be removed back when the Convention concludes its labors.

Mr. Fames, ex Minister, has sont to the President his final despatch, relinquishing the legation to Mr. Turpin.

Mr. E. is detained here on account of an injury received by his lady, but will probably take passage in the next

The Convention progresses slowly, the federal constitution being rejected. It is proposed to divide Venezuela into five or six departments, and the constitution, as agreed upon, it is expected, will soon be adopted.

It is to be hoped the last Commission sent to invite General Paez to leave New York and take up his residence in Venezueia will be acceeded to on the part of the General. The next Presidency will be offered to him, and it is hoped he will accept the office.

The country has been very quiet since Monagas and his Minister have been sent away, and it is hoped that all things will prosper hereafter.

Castro to Valencia—New Territorial Division of the Republic—Mail Communication with Europe by the West Indies-Yellow Fever at Caracas, &c.

I stated to you in my last correspondence, of the 30th of August, that Gen. Soublette and Mr. Berrisbetra, on behalf of Gen. Castro, had signed, at Laguayra, with the French Admiral, Count Gueydon, and Mr. Orme, an agreement, on the 27th August, whereby Gen. Monagas, in compliance with the protocol of March 26, would once receive his passports and be allowed to leave the country-senor Gutierrez to be given up to the English and French legations, or sent out of the country, if deemed advisable by the government, and Guiseppi's trial, on charges of forgery, to be continued by the national courts. Immediately after Gen. Castro returned to the city, he not only sent Gen. Monagas, but Gutierrez also, to Mar tinique, in the national brig San Pedro, both under charge of Col. Minchin. The English and French Charges, who

General Castro and his secretary, after having partaken of a splendid banquet, deficated to him by the merchants in the city, whereat the Hon. Charles Eames gave a toast that was received with much applause, and which induced Gen. Castro to leave his seat and give him a cordial embrace, returned to Valencia on the 13th inst., and is now at the head of the executive power in that city.

The National Convention have passed a resolution dividing the republic into aix departments, instead of the twenty-one provinces of which it is formed. The island of Margarita is a separate State, to remain a free port of deposits, ruled by apecual laws.

They have also read twice a decree whereby the Royal Mail Steamship Company, under a special coutract with the government, are to send their West India steamers to Laguayra with the European correspondence, which will be an important advantage to our comparence.

The new constitution is also under consideration. Though not entirely federal, the different departments will have the entire control of their municipal laws, the courts in each department to be appointed by the executive power of the republic.

Our new Minister, Hon. E. A. Turpin, arrived on the 12th inst, in the bark Thomas Dallett. He is a guest of the Hon. Charles Eames, and will remain with him at his residence until Mr. Eames returns to the United States in the course of next month.

Among the passengers by the Thomas Dallett, that arrived yesterday, is the Hon. E. A. Turpin, appeinted by his government to succeed the Hon. Charles Rames. He is now in the city, and a quest of Mr. Kames. By information that we have received from persons acquainted with him, and who have need familiar and commercial intercourse with him in Citude Boil var., we are aware that he is an accomplished gentleman of excellent manners, and greatly attached to Venezueia, wherein he has made a fortune as a director of the steamships that navigate the Apure. He speaks thently our language, and, with such good antecedents, it is to be expected that he will be most worthy to succeed Mr. Rames.

We have had of late several fatal cases of yellow fever in the city among the foreigners, especially the Ger-mans; but it is to be hoped that the epidemic will dis-appear as soon as the present month is out, which is generally the most sickly in South America and the West sional government and General Castro, the provisional President, that functionary was authorized by the Conven-tion to proceed from Valencia to Caracas, with extraordinary powers, with the Minister of the Interior as his sec-retary. A vast number of arrests were made, including administration. About seventy five have been indultade, and the principals held responsible. It is the general impression that the executive power will be offered to Genedoubtful. The Convention is making slow progress; the six dollars a day does not seem to stimulate the members have the new constitution agreed upon by the Convention, and published. General Castro has returned to Valencia with his Secretary, to resume the Presidential chair, leaving General Soublette in command of the troops in this capital.

finest in the West Indies, rivaling even that of Havana. The town is very pretty and picturesque, being built in the old Dutch style. It is very well fortified, being a naval station. I was very much surprised to hear that none of our men-of-war had been in here for the last five years, as those of other nations are in here very freyears, as those of other nations are in here very frequently.

There is considerable excitement here at present growing out of an affair which happened on the evening of the 21st, when an armod policeman attacked and out down a young American, by name Charles R. Follin, without cause or provocation being given. The inhabitants have petitioned the home government to have the poince disarrmed for the future, as they have been rather too free in the use of their sabres for several months. Follin was severely wounded about the head and left arm, but is now out of danger, though he will lose the use of his arm. The Americans present at the time drew up a petition and sent it to the Consul, though he will lose the use of his powers in such matters to addressing accounts of them to our Minister at the Hague.

AN ALMSHOUSE GOVERNOR'S SEAT TO HE CONTESTED -It is rumored that it is on the tapis to contest the seat held by Anthony Dugro in the Board of Ten Governors, on the ground that he is not a resident of the county in which he holds the office. It is charged that he removed his residence to Long Island in the year 1854 or '55, and that he therefore was not eligible when elected in 1857. The Governors themselves have no power to act in the matter, and the effort to remove will have to be done by an application to the Court for a mandamus.

The wound, which was made with a cheese knife, is in the left sade and entered the cavity of the abdomen, where, it is thought, it severed the intestines. The ante-mortem examination of the young man will be taken to-day. Charles McDermott, now in prison, has been identified by Carston as the person who stabbed him.

INSCRICTION OF THE ELECTION RESOURCEST .- The Eighth regiment were inspected yesterday in Tompkins square, in the presence of a large assemblage of spectators. This regiment has considerably improved in its drill, and executed the maneutres laid down by the State in a manner highly creditable to the officers and men.

CAUTION TO HOUSEKKERES—A NEW GAME.—A man about

30 years of age, apparently a Frenchman, and rather pre-possessing in his appearance, called at a house in Twenty ninth street on Monday and inquired for the ladyof the hou ninh street on Monday and inquired for the lady of the house by name, saying Mr. Samson wished to see her. The servant showed him to the parlor, and white she was absent he appropriated to himself all the visiting cards on the centre table. When the lady appeared he said he had been recommended by another lady, whose name he mentioned, residing in Twenty-second street, to offer her a superior article of furniture varnish for saie. The name of the Twenty-ninth street lady was obtained by the theft of cards in Twenty-second street; and the address of friends of the family in Twenty-ninth street is now in his possession, on whom he will undoubtedly call and use their name to effect the sale of his varnish. Look out for him, that he does not steal something more valuable than cards.

CONSUMPTION, IF NOT CONFIRMED, CAN BE RNtirely cured by Watta' Nervous Antidote; it will fill the whole system with bealth and strength, which will be permanent: it will restore to the aged and leeble the vigor of youth;
there is no reaction after using it; it will utterly annihilate ail nervous affections; it has been used by thousands, whose certidentes we have and will send, post free, to any part of the United States; the astounding cures it is every day effecting of cultients, neuringla, extreme mental and physical dobility, rheumatism, convulsions, loss of energy, reallessness, coughs, inght sweat, dekarum tremens, &c., would hardly be credited if they were not vuolsed for by hundreds of certificates from

PROM THE HOME JOURNAL.

Among all the palaces of France, the Palais des Thermes, the Louvre, Malmaison, the Elysee, magnificent though they were, that of Versailles took precedence. When Louis Al V. ascended that of Versailles took precedence. When Louis Al V. ascended the threne of France he became discontented with his beautiful palacest St. Germain. From its windows he could discern, at no great distance the Towers of L'Elise St. Donis, beneath whose gloonly walls reposed the ashes of the kings of France, and the royal sensualist, too much in love with life ever to reflect on death, determined to remove from the shadows which those sacred walls threw daily over his mind; and in what was then the Forest of Versailles, at the cost of two hundred millions of dollars he erected a palace for himself, his favories and courters, that surpassed in magnificence the wildest dreams of those who had preceded him. A circuit of sixty miles enclosed the immense park, in the centre of which the kingly palace was embowered, and, as if by marge, a magnificent city took the place of hill and dale, tern and forest, and wealthy nobles reared their princely homes used the royal residence, and a hundred thousand citizens soon througed the streets of gay Versailles.

Babylou, in all its glory, was echipsed by this modern seat of splendor and veleptiousness, and millions tolfed throughout the length and breadth of the land, to feed and clothe these
